In 2005, she became the artist in residence at Old Sturbridge Village in traditional rug making. She spoke about and demonstrated some of her adapted and developed techniques for knitting, crocheting, and sewing rugs. Her passion for the shirred and standing wool rugs caught my attention. Here was something I could use the blanket weight wool for!

However, after placing my inquiry on Hometalk I stumbled across a book by Diana Blake Gray titled "Traditional Shirred & Standing Wool Rugs." Chapter 7 is about "Sewn Center-shirring" and appears to be exactly what I was looking for! This tells about strips of fabric (usually wool) that are (in my words) accordioned onto the needle and string ...
